of money to carry out this gigantic scheme. There is no doubt but that it would cost much less to swing down through Southern Utah and around Los Angeles. By doing this the train would pass through a fine country and in a short time their business would be more than double. In speaking of the big tunnel, the Railway Age says:

The Central Pacific Railroad management is reported to have decided upon a tunnel

Mr. Bowers seemed to blame the engineer for his trouble, but is doubtless wrong in this. The engineer had stopped the train for fear of a collision with the crossing, which, if both train and team had moved a few yards further on, would probably have happened. Mr. Madden, the engineer, says that the whole thing is the fault of Mr. Bowers himself, from the fact that when he saw the train coming he plied the whip to the horses, and thus caused them to start.

is almost startling in its boldness and respect to the expenditure contemplated. The plan, which has been brought to the attention of the United States Senate by Senator Stewart of Nevada in the form of an amendment to the Pacific Railroad Funding Bill, contemplates the gigantic undertaking of tunneling through the mountains at several points so they can carry trains below the deep snow line, thus also greatly reducing the steep grades which now contribute to the expense of operation.

It is just the place for accidents, and should be remedied by changing the driveway to a point farther east. If this is not done, other accidents of similar character are liable to occur which may not terminate so favorably for the ones in jeopardy.

The Los Angeles Herald appeared yesterday in entirely fresh typographical habiliments. The new dress is a handsome one—the best the Herald ever donned—giving the paper a bright, modern, metropolitan appearance, and doing credit to the founders, publishers and printers.

COL. JOHN T. CRISP of Kansas City, an enthusiastic sportsman, proposes that the sportsmen of America ask for another portfolio in the Cabinet, to be known as secretary of the national park system of the United States, his duties to be the selection of lands and reporting of the same to Congress for national parks in which shall be preserved the game and fish of the country. If every industry and hobby in the United States is to be represented in the Cabinet, that body will need another capitol built for it to hold its sessions in.

The first and highest interest and duty of the Republicans of California, in the matter of selecting candidates for the State, judicial and legislative tickets, is to choose men who are thoroughly fit for and worthy of the respective places to which they may aspire. In this way only can success be assured. On the contrary, let the mistake be made of choosing the wrong men—we will say the wrong man for the head of the State ticket—and the weight so laid upon the party will drag down both the State and the legislative tickets. We here speak words of soberness and truth.

GEN. NELSON A. MILES has a valuable paper in the North American Review for March on the arid region of the west, under the title of "Our Unwatered Empire," an empire which, according to the statistics of the Agricultural Department, includes 150,000 square miles, which are capable of being reclaimed by irrigation, or one-half the aggregate of land now cultivated in this country. Gen. Miles paints a glowing picture of the wonders which water has already accomplished in California, as an indication of what can be accomplished by the Federal Government in this direction.

As we expected it would, the truth about Bismarck's resignation is beginning to leak out. The report that he has refused the honors proffered him by the Emperor is confirmed, and his personal organs begin to express in pretty plain language the feeling which exists among his friends and adherents. The cause of his withdrawal is now known to have been a refusal to accept the Emperor's egotistical and medieval views upon the divine right of kings, with which this ambitious young man is apparently imbued. The empire of Germany will now be emphatically a one-man power. It will be interesting to see how long a highly cultured and essentially level-headed people like the Germans can bring themselves to submit to this species of benevolent despotism. As a child is threatened with "bogie" and made to be good, so the danger of attack from without has hitherto held the people of Germany in check and smothered disaffection, but such a device cannot much longer keep a great nation from asserting its manhood.

THE QUESTION OF INVASION.

Los Angeles county has now a well-defined candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor in the person of one of her foremost citizens. He is a man who stands thoroughly well with his fellows, who has been given evidence of their confidence in a marked degree, and who has honored that confidence by conspicuous service in the halls of Congress. A due and reasonable observance of custom, and of that loyalty to a neighbor, which are characteristic of our people, would, other things being equal, entitle Col. Markham to the undivided support of his home people in preference to any other aspirant for the office, no matter what his locality or position.

Yet, despite the truth of this proposition, the friends of Col. Markham do not pretend to claim that he has any prescriptive right, per se, to the delegation from his own county, unless he is demonstrated to be the unquestioned choice—a demonstration which, however, we believe has been clearly made. We do not maintain that the soil of Los Angeles county is sacred ground, not to be trodden by the foot of any rival candidate. To attempt to maintain that position would be to narrow the contest, and place the man most immediately concerned in a position which his broad, just and generous nature would not tolerate. If, therefore, Los Angeles county is to be invaded, so to speak, by other gubernatorial foragers, it becomes a question of methods—of ways and means—of what tactics may be adopted with the approval of reasonable and fair men.

Thus far, but one of the several aspirants for the first office has crossed the line, either in person or through emissaries and political agents. Mr. Gregory has not appeared upon the scene; Mr. Coombs has made no demonstration; Mr. Jordan has not crossed the stream of that name, nor any other, in Southern California; Mr. Felton has not even come down to look at his oil wells within our borders; Mr. Morrow is campaigning in Washington, with no lieutenant looking after his fences south of the Tehachapi; and not even Ellwood Cooper, the famed horticulturist, has come into our territory to cultivate the redolia cardinalis, or any other enemy of the scalebug, whether political or entomological.

None of these gentlemen, though each would doubtless like to be Governor, has felt at liberty to poach upon what he evidently considers the political preserves of Col. Markham. There is a delicacy, a courtesy and a gallantry about such action on their part that is altogether honorable to them and creditable to their distinguished rival here.

The one eager aspirant who has invaded Los Angeles county with the loudly-declared determination to lasso, capture and corral its delegation, by fair means or foul, is Gov. Waterman. He has come into this territory in person and by agents, camped on the ground, and is making forays in every direction, with the intent of gathering in the political plunder. Loud boasts are made that his arid Excellency is going to get the Los Angeles delegation "dead sure," and intimations are indiscreetly thrown out by his pinafore lieutenant—rather a raw recruit in the army of politics—that a very large sum of money will be expended in this county, if need be, in order to secure the end sought. All the other usual cheap and ingenious methods of making a campaign to capture delegates are being resorted to. Indiscriminate promises of office, proposals to buy and barter, cajolment, cunning and duplicity are being brought to bear. As an illustration, it is reported that the Bank Commissioners, soon to become vacant, has been promised to no less than six deluded individuals in the southern country; that one county official has had the bauble held out to him; that another has had a hint that he could have any one of two or three local offices, not to speak of a State nomination; that a city official has had the Legislative bed inserted into his bonnet, that another city official has been slated for an important county office, that numerous more or less handy political strikers have been promised prospective pay, and that, generally, the business of peddling promises has become extremely active, not to say inflated. Above and over all, surrounding it as a corona surrounds the moon in a fog, or like foam on a beer mug, is the loud, long and reckless boasting of Mr. Waterman's political agents, headed by the nimble vaquero of Whittier.

The policy—we might say the "racket"—of these noisy people is to claim everything in sight, in order to deceive the ignorant, frighten the timid, cajole the weak and seduce the susceptible. In short, it is a bold, reckless, determined attempt to rape the primaries and debauch the county, for the benefit of a wildly-ambitious man, who once declared that he would not serve another term as Governor for a million dollars, but who, veering in his political course, has latterly declared—so it is reported—that he will get the nomination, if it costs him a hundred thousand dollars! We have no concern on the point of how Col. Markham's own county stands. A fair test of strength will give him the delegation, beyond any question. It is merely a question whether legitimate methods shall have sway.

The problem, then, for Republicans of Los Angeles county to consider today is: Shall the prevailing methods be permitted to succeed? Shall the unquestioned sentiment of this great political subdivision, where the Republican majority of the State so largely rests, be perverted? Shall the will of our people be nullified by illegitimate methods? We say no! It is for the Republicans themselves to determine; they have the power to determine, and we believe they will determine that their own choice shall prevail, and that unscrupulous attempts to flich the franchise and plunder the primaries shall be met with the rebuke which they deserve.

Aggressive action, on legitimate lines, is the duty of the hour.

The Leadville Chronicle, of which Earl Marble, who formerly resided in San Francisco, is the new editor, contains a savage attack on the Bay City, of which the following is a mild sample:

San Francisco, that was born of criminals, and nursed in the slums; San Francisco, many of whose chief first families in the previous generation were selling whisky over a bar or using all their exertions to evade a vigilance committee. If there is a city in the United States where vice walks broadest and undisputed everywhere throughout the city in a more brazen manner than in any other city of the world, that city is San Francisco. It was founded in crime and reared in vice, and today a large portion of its older and wealthier citizens, who have lived there for the better part of a generation, are ignorant and uncouth, coarse and unprincipled.

San Francisco will probably manage to survive this terrible onslaught.

If the Republicans of Los Angeles chose to imitate the somewhat cheeky tactics of Mr. Waterman's prime minister, in the matter of drag-netting for Republican delegates in the county of a rival candidate, they would promptly transfer the conflict to Seneagambia, by which term it is meant to indicate the territory commonly called San Bernardino. Did the pinafore "politician" who is undertaking to capture the Los Angeles works, making prominent use of the persuasive influence of the sack, ever reflect upon that interesting possibility?

CHARLESTON, S. C., which was quoted during the late sewer-bond campaign as the only city in the United States which has a larger debt than Los Angeles would have had if all the sewer bonds had been voted, is said to be in a bad way. Her commerce has vanished, and the world seems to give the go-by to the old seaport.

AMONG THE POLITICIANS.

Missouri Democrats are distressed by the growth and political activity of the Farmers' and Laborers' Union and other allied organizations, which are turning against the Democratic party, and threaten to make things unpleasant and insecure for the Democrats in close legislative and congressional districts.

THE LOS ANGELES TIMES opens the campaign for Governor by emphasizing the merits and services of Col. H. H. Markham. If the candidates put forward for this high office all had the good character of Col. Markham, the voters for the State will have no fault to find with the nominations. (National City Record.)

Mr. Cleveland, says a writer in the Globe Democrat, in his brief but extraordinary public history, has shown the folly of applying to him any of the principles or standards by which other men's chances have been estimated. From the beginning to the end of his career he has been a law unto himself. In every stage of his public career he has been absolutely and entirely independent of precedent. From the time in which he first entered into the arena of affairs onward to the day of the election in 1888, he had risen above all the parallels, triumphed in the face of adverse angles, knocked the wind out of the sails of his opponents at the similitudes which were cited against him, and, aggressively speaking, had shaken his fist in the face of fate. No other man in this country down to his day, except those whom leadership in war placed conspicuously in the foreground, had reached the heights of such small, unobscured political talents, qualifications and experience as he possessed.

AN INTERESTING QUESTION.

The City Funds to Figure in the Council Again.

The meeting of the Council this morning promises to be interesting from the fact that the matter of the loaning of the city funds is again to come up. Mayor Hazard filed a message last week, which was published in THE TIMES, scoring the Council for the delay in purchasing a safe for the use of the Treasurer, so that the funds now in the hands of the "ring" banks can be withdrawn and put into the vaults of the City Hall, thus cutting off the revenues with which the banks are carrying on their legal fight against the city.

This matter was referred to the Finance Committee, and at the last meeting of the Council they asked for further time to make their report, which was granted, and was this action of the committee in asking for further time, and of the Council in granting it, that called forth the Mayor's message. The matter has been further considered during the past week, but whether any recommendation will be made in regard to it is not known, as the report could not be found in the City Clerk's office Saturday afternoon.

The contest is now beginning to get decidedly interesting, and is likely to take a sensational turn at any time. The Treasurer is tied up by an injunction, it is true, restraining him from turning the money over to the City Bank, but it is openly and freely charged that the majority of the Council voted to approve the bond and make the award, all of those who voted do not wish to take the money from where it now is, and were only forced to put themselves on record by the strong pressure of public opinion, which they dared not disregard, and which demanded that the money be put where it would pay interest. In proof of this position, the fact is pointed out that at no time has the Mayor been supported in the fight by the Council and Treasurer, as if they really meant business; that, while the majority of them publicly stated that they favored loaning the funds, no steps have been taken to bring the fight to a crisis by ordering or instructing, or even asking, the Treasurer to remove the money from the banks and place the same in the vaults of the City Treasury. On the contrary, it is urged that every delay has been apparently welcomed with delight, and every assistance given in prolonging the matter by delays of every character and description, wherever it was possible, and the action of the Treasurer in refusing to allow the burglar-proof safe, loaned by the city, to be put in the vaults, the Council in refusing to accept of the loan of the said safe, and the Finance Committee's dilatoriness in acting on the Mayor's suggestion that a safe be secured at once, are cited as cases in point.

To complicate matters further, it is claimed that the "ring" banks themselves are not unanimous on the matter, and that one or two of them, which they have been unfairly treated by the manipulators of the "ring" in the division of the spoils, show a disposition to kick out of the traces, and take advantage of the situation to make the "bosses" come to time or break the combination, and should the present strained relations result in an open rupture, the whole inside history of the combine may yet become public property.

SEATTLE (Wash.), March 23.—[By the Associated Press.] In searching the ruins of the fire which destroyed the Steetson & Post block on Friday night the charred remains of three bodies were found today, two men and one woman. The bodies were afterward identified as those of J. George Jones and M. C. Mayes and wife, who arrived here from Arkansas on Friday morning to take charge of a hotel at Marysville. On arriving here they engaged a room in Mrs. Harvey's lodging-house, in the Steetson & Post row. On Friday evening, being tired after the long journey across the continent, they retired about 8 o'clock. All three occupied a room on the second floor, which had two beds. At 10 o'clock the fire broke out. An employee of the lodging-house knocked on the door, but, as he could not rouse the inmates, he kicked in the panel. As he received no reply, he supposed that they had already escaped. It is supposed the ill-fated trio went out with their luggage, were not roused by the alarm of fire, and were smothered before the flames reached them.

ANOTHER PAPER RAILWAY.

A Tempting Bait for Eastern Suckers to Nibble.

SAN DIEGO, March 23.—[By the Associated Press.] A copy of the prospectus of the so-called Los Angeles, San Diego and Yuma Railway Company, circulated at Salt Lake City, Utah, has been received here, wherein it is claimed that the company has an exclusive franchise to 11½ miles of San Diego's water-front, and all railroads entering San Diego will have to pay it tribute. The prospectus offers the stock of the railroad for sale at Salt Lake City, and it is probable that it is also circulated in New York. The claims in the prospectus are utterly false. No exclusive franchise has ever been granted to any part of San Diego's water-front. The prospectus claims that three and one-half miles of railroad has been already built is false. W. R. Carlson, president of the alleged company, has laid a shillied track of iron rails approximately one mile in private property, and he and William Graves of New York are trying to speculate upon this as a railroad. Carlson is now supposed to be in New York, exploiting the scheme.

A Mute Killed.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—This afternoon an aged unknown man was walking down the railroad track in Oakland, when he saw the local train approaching. He stepped to the adjoining track only to discover the Hayward train also approaching. Becoming confused, he stepped back on the local track, and the next instant was struck and hurled down an embankment. He died a few minutes. He could not be identified. He is believed to have been a Chinaman.

Blown to Atom.

SAN FRANCISCO (Ind.), March 23.—A man named Barr was blown to atoms and a woman and child were instantly killed yesterday afternoon by a nitro glycerine explosion near Stone Station. Barr was making the explosive to an oil well in a wagon, and the cause of the explosion is unknown. The woman and child were sitting in a window in a house in front of which the explosion occurred. Horse, wagon and man were blown into small fragments.

The Molders' Strike.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—Nothing new was developed today in the iron molders' strike. Around the foundries everything presented the usual Sunday appearance. The only exception to this rule was at the Blenden Iron Works, where the men, who were allowed to work on Sunday, were being paid extra for the same.

AN OFFICER'S BAD BREAK.

Imprisoning a Man No Longer in the Service.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—[By the Associated Press.] Lieutenant-Commander Longenecker of the receiving ship New Hampshire, stationed at Newport, R. I., is now in trouble. A sailor named Carboy, who had served on the New Hampshire, received his discharge, of which fact Longenecker was ignorant. Meeting the sailor afterward, the sailor did not treat his former commander with the servility the commander expected from a common sailor, and he immediately caused his arrest and had him placed in double irons in the hold of the ship. Afterward Commander Longenecker found out his mistake and had the sailor released. A civil action has been brought by Carboy against Commander Longenecker for $10,000 damages, and the case has also been brought to the attention of Secretary Tracy, but as the sailor was not in the United States service at the time he suffered the indignity the department does not see in what way Commander Longenecker can be called to account other than through the courts. The civil suit will come up this week.

ROCHESTER (N. Y.), March 23.—Later details of last night's wreck at Portage show that three trainmen were killed, another trainman was seriously injured and three were seriously hurt; several passengers were cut and bruised. A mistake of the train dispatcher was responsible for the wreck.

A Defaulter Surrenders.

GRAND RAPIDS (Mich.), March 23.—Clarence Took, ex-cashier of the United States Express Company, whose mysterious disappearance last November created much speculation until it was learned that he was a defaulter, returned home last night and gave himself up to the authorities.

The taxable wealth of Kern county in 1884 was $193,137. The County Auditor was paid a yearly salary of $35, and the Superintendent of Schools $45.

WATERS RECEDING.

The Danger of Floods in Pennsylvania Past.

PITTSBURGH, March 23.—[By the Associated Press.] The Monongahela and Allegheny rivers reached the highest mark of the present flood this afternoon, 24 feet. Rivermen feel less apprehensive tonight and think the rivers will soon fall. So far no serious damage has been done, although a large portion of the lower sections of Allegheny City and Pittsburgh are partially submerged, basements of residences and business houses being flooded. The new brotherhood ball-park was badly damaged and the lower floor of the Exposition building is under water.

Dispatches from points along the upper Monongahela and Youklogany rivers report considerable damage.

At Johnstown tonight, however, the water was receding, and fears of a serious flood had subsided.

WHEELING (W. Va.), March 23.—Reports from the interior along the headwaters of the Monongahela are more reassuring tonight, and apprehension of a serious flood is past. The cold snap stopped the rain, and the streams are falling.

CINCINNATI, March 23.—The river here is rising rapidly tonight. At midnight it is 35 feet 3 inches. As the situation above is improving, it is hoped there will be no serious flood here. Some anxiety is felt, however. The low lands are already flooded to a considerable extent. Three men who came from New York in a skiff this afternoon were drowned by the capsizing of their craft.

WASHINGTON.

FORECAST OF THE WEEK IN CONGRESS.

Report That Senator Blair's Mind Is Becoming Unbowed Over the Defeat of His Educational Bill.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—[By the Associated Press.] The committee authorized at the recent conference of Republican Senators has decided upon an order of business for the Senate that will probably be executed. The consideration of Mr. Sherman's anti-trust bill will be resumed tomorrow. In order to economize the time of debate the committee proposes that a bill once taken up for discussion be considered without unnecessary interruption until disposed of. The Dependent Pension Bill is second on the list. An effort will be made to substitute for it what is known as the Morrill Bill. This provides for disability pensions and service pensions for soldiers that have reached the age of 63. The Administrative Customs Bill, the Jones Silver Bill and the Land Grant Foreclosure Bill follow. The majority and minority reports upon the Montana election case will be presented to the Senate tomorrow. Action upon them, however, will be postponed until they are printed and examined by the Senate.

The House will devote tomorrow to District of Columbia affairs. The World's Fair Bill will be taken up on Tuesday, probably, under the iron-clad order, requiring final action on that day. A lively debate is certain to ensue, some of the New York and St. Louis people favoring their side in the proposition to postpone the fair until 1893, an opportunity to reconsider the action of the House in selecting Chicago as the site. The remainder of the week will probably be devoted to discussion of the bill to admit Wyoming and Idaho. The tariff bill may be reported during the week.

Senator Blair and His Hobby.

NEW YORK, March 23.—The World's Education correspondent states that Senator Blair's wife told a friend a few days ago that she did not think of the effect upon her husband of the defeat of the educational bill. His wife's mind has been centered in it, and he has been expressing the opinion that the bill is a very important one, and that it has been increasing of late years, and he has become a monomaniac upon his bill. He is convinced that there is a conspiracy against him, a conspiracy among all the other Senators, and a conspiracy of the press.

STATE AND COAST.

Santa Barbara will elect city officers April 7th.

A thousand men have been given work by the relief fund in San Francisco.

Thomas R. Bard of Ventura has declined the use of his name for Governor this fall.

The Agricultural Park property of Santa Rosa has been sold to Ira Pierce of San Francisco for $17,500.

The high wind around Marysville has driven in town hundreds of jack-rabbits that are killed on the streets.

Frank H. Polindexter has been appointed postmaster at Chilkat, Alaska, the most northern postoffice in the United States.

A fine ledge of asbestos, 14 feet in width, has been discovered in the mountains eight miles east of Sanger, Fresno county.

Owing to the strike of molders in San Francisco, orders for work have been received from there at the foundries in Santa Barbara.

August Neary of San Francisco attempted suicide by shooting himself Friday. Excessive cigarette smoking caused partial insanity.

The Governor has appointed the following commissioners to manage the Yosemite Valley and the Mariposa Big Tree Grove: J. B. Stetson, T. P. Madden, John P. Irish and Frank M. Pixley. San Francisco and J. H. O'Brien of San Joaquin county.

Erickson, the Oakland prophet, who has predicted a great earthquake and tidal wave in that locality in April, has caused such extreme excitement that the authorities have taken the matter in hand and have dispersed the gatherings. The agitation has undermined many weak intellects.

How It Happened.

The Pomona Times says that city was justly treated by the citrus fruit committees withholding all premiums to Pomonians, and gives these as the reasons why:

Five merchants and one fruit-grower responded to the original call for a mass meeting of fruit-growers to take the initiatory steps. The same ratio was preserved throughout the balance of the meetings.

High license and anti-saloon could not unite in good shape. Pomona took no steps to enter the race, until all the best fruit had been disposed of and shipped east.

The prohibitionists were afraid that wine would be on exhibition in the Pomona department. The anti were afraid it wouldn't.

A house divided within itself cannot stand.

Pomona lacked experience.

Pomona lacked enterprise.

Pomona didn't know as much about citrus fairs as she does now.

Gov. David Bennett Hill, having given it as his opinion that the Democracy is going to "sweep the country" in '92, it is now in order to hear from Grover Cleveland. Each of these distinguished Democrats, it is understood, considers the other as the one great stumbling-block in the way of his party's progress. Has Gov. Hill come to the conclusion that his rival has been finally disposed of?—(Boston Journal.

FRESH LITERATURE.

ATFOAT IN THE FOREST. BY CAPT. MAYNE REID. The Harper Library. (Worthington & Co., publishers, New York.) For sale by the Hancock Company, San Francisco.

There never was a writer for young people more deservedly popular than Mayne Reid, and the world was the loser when he died. He was one of the best-known authors of his time, and there was never a word in his books which might not be read aloud in the home circle. His stories were largely of romantic life in the wilderness, so vividly told they were and are of great interest to the young, as were ever the stories of Robin Hood and Robinson Crusoe. "Atfoat in the Forest" is one of the most charming of his books, full of incident and the natural wonders of the forest.

MARIE BASHKIRTSEFF. The Journal of a young artist. 1861-1884. (New York: Cassell, Petter & Galpin.)

All the reading world has heard of this book, which Gladstone denominates as "a book without a parallel." And it is to be questioned if ever before the inner life of an individual was so laid bare to the world without reserve. Its great interest lies in the fact that it is the honest story of a young girl's life told with the utmost frankness and sincerity. As says the translator: "Here is the record of an extraordinary life. . . . In these pages science, art, literature, social questions, love, are treated with all the cynicism of a Machiavelli and the naïveté of an ardent and enthusiastic girl. . . . With a nature that was profoundly religious, and a spirit that was essentially skeptical, with ambition to conquer the universe, and a heart that yearned with a passionate longing for affection, demanding all things for herself, yet capable of the most utter self-abnegation, 'hoping all things,' and fearing all things, alternately clinging to life with an eagerness that is pathetic in its intensity, wishing for death with an eagerness no less pathetic, regarding herself by turns as the superior of kings and as less than the least of created beings, Marie Bashkirtseff has left us as her contribution to the literature of humanity these confessions, which no one who has a mind to think or a heart to feel can read unmoved."

Magazines.

The Jessie Miller Magazine for March will commend itself to every household, especially to the feminine portion of it, for whose help it is intended. The current number opens with an illustrated paper on "Physical Culture" (VIII), by Mabel Jeness, which is followed by the third paper on "Social Etiquette," from the pen of Countess Annie de Montaigne. Among the other interesting contributions are, "Fine Lace: How to Become a Connoisseur," by Charles Blane; "Monica's Rude Awakening," Clara Holbrook Smith; "The Luxury of the Turkish and Roman Baths," Annie Jeness Miller; "In My Lady's Chamber," editorial comment, etc., etc. (The Jeness Miller Publishing Company, New York.)

The Literary News for March comes full of its fresh suggestions for book lovers, and its choice reviews of new books, with illustrations therefrom. The best books of the day are noted, and the News is a monitor that wisely points us to the treasures of literature while unfolding for us its rich stores. (Published by Stall & Thayer, Los Angeles.)

The Rural Californian for March is an excellent number, treating especially of matters of vital interest to the horticulturists and agriculturists of this section. It should be found in the homes of this large class of our citizens, as it is a journal for the suburban and country home.

The Ladies' Home Journal for April is replete with good things for its feminine readers. Its table of contents is an extensive one, embracing a wide variety of subjects, among which may be noted: "How to Move Easily and Well," by Mrs. M. P. Handy; "How Beauty is Often Had," Annie M. Hale, M.D.; "Some House-cleaning Hints," G. L. H.; "Under My Study Lamp," T. De Witt Talmage; "Spring Vegetables," Eliza R. Parker, together with numerous other contributions. The culinary department presents a choice array of valuable recipes. (Curis Publishing Company, Philadelphia.)

STAGE TONES.

MEIRY MINNIE MADDERN AND THE "MIRROR" MATED.

Manager Palmer's Great Feet—Langtry in "As You Like It"—Booth's Lethargy Gone—"The Rivals" at the Fifth Avenue—A Chopin Interpreter Coming—Concerning Frauds—"Fantasma" This Week.

A telegram from New York announces the marriage, in that city, on the 19th inst., of the celebrated comedienne, Minnie Maddern, to Harrison Grey Fiske, the editor of the New York Dramatic Mirror. Miss Maddern's high reputation as a charming actress, full of originality and sympathetic insight, has been confirmed by the unanimous voice of the press. Those who were fortunate enough to see her acting on her brief visit here, last November, will long remember the pleasure she afforded. The troops of friends of the newly-wedded couple will join in wishing them every happiness.

The latest feat in managerial enterprise is the adventure of A. M. Palmer, who took his entire company, by special train, from New York to Washington, where they gave a matinee performance of Aunt Jack for the benefit of the actors' fund of America, and returned to New York in time to give their usual evening performance, at the Madison Square Theater. The run of 225 miles to Washington was made in four hours and seventeen minutes, and the return trip in one minute longer, beating the fastest time on record. The President and a host of the upper ten were present. The net proceeds of the entertainment were $2143.50.

Mrs. Langtry's production of As You Like It has been the most recent event of importance at the London theaters. Her venture was deemed rather rash, being made during the lull season, but the Prince of Wales and his wife, and some other royal personages honored the occasion, and the papers have bestowed a good deal of praise upon the fair actress, but not so much upon her acting. The opinion seems to be general that she has gained in the important arts of ease, finish and self-confidence, but there is the usual discord of expression as to her qualifications for such a "Rosalind." The weightier opinion inclining it must be confessed, to prescribe that her artistic efforts should be strictly confined to those personations in the modern society drama which demand no more effort than a "ladylike" interpretation. This is severe on the would-be "Lady Macbeth" and "Rosalind," but Mrs. Langtry is a woman of great determination of character, and may yet win her laurels in the profession.

The almost incredible statement comes from Baltimore to the effect that Edwin Booth had shaken off his "lithargic," and was acting with more spirit than he had shown for ten years. It is a consummation devoutly to be wished. The facile way in which the great and only Edwin has been gathering in the shekels of the gaping public for, lo, these many years, and giving to the said public the least possible return for their money, has been an instructive sight for the student of popular gullibility. The late continued falling off in financial returns must have convinced the great actor that the "lithargic" condition must be abandoned, for a time at least.

Frederick Ward showed a letter during his visit here last week which he had just received from Lawrence Barrett, dated from Nice, where the distinguished actor is recuperating. The writer speaks of the operation upon his throat as having caused a considerable drain upon his system, but expresses the hope that he will at an early date be sufficiently recovered to resume his professional duties.

The performance now being given at the Fifth Avenue Theater, in New York, of Sheridan's masterpiece, The Rivals, is one that must be greatly interesting on account of the excellent cast engaged in its production. Jefferson plays "Bob Acres"; W. J. Florence is the "Sir Lucius"; and Mrs. Drew enacts "Mrs. Malaprop." Of this noteworthy trio, the lady is accorded the palm for correct interpretation. The "Bob Acres" of Jefferson is described by a leading critic as a delightful perversion of the author's creation, and Florence's "Sir Lucius" as a colorless performance. Paulding's "Jack Absolute" is praised, Yarrow is described as a wretched "Sir Anthony," Nash as a mediocre "Faulkland," Agnes Miller as a lively "Lucy," and Viola Allen as an unsatisfactory "Lydia." From the fact that the piece is poorly mounted it would appear that the manager relies entirely upon the drawing power of his stars for a financial success.

The women of the Saturday Morning Club in New York, an association first started by Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, produced The Antigone of Sophocles as a lullaby to last week. Tickets were put at $2 and men were rigorously excluded, as at a former performance when Browning's In a Balcony was played with society women in tight representing the male characters.

It is announced in a New York paper that De Pachman, the great Chopin player, has sailed from Havre to give 25 recitals of Chopin's music, chiefly in the Eastern States, and the news has caused no little excitement among musicians and the musical public. Renowned as a virtuoso, De Pachman is most widely known as an interpreter of Chopin. The late Dr. Hueffer proclaimed him in the London Times, Rubenstein's master as a Chopin player. What adds to the interest of his performances here is the fact that no Chopin player of note has been listened to on this side of the Atlantic for the last 25 years.

The tour of the Kendalls continues highly successful. Their performances in San Francisco last week drew large houses in spite of increased prices. The criticisms of the San Francisco press are in the main very favorable.

Frederick Ward's engagement at the Grand last week was a disappointment to the tragedian and the public, but only on account of its brevity. The receipts amounted to $2400 for the two evenings and one matinee, including one very wet day. The "Hole in the Ground" Company, which followed, also did a good paying business. Most good attractions have done well here, though there has been some fluctuation in the theatrical business in this city, as in all others. One thing is certain, and that is that managers of inferior combinations of the caliber of The Stowaway, for example, are learning that the Los Angeles public is not to be easily defrauded. Such men when they get safely away will vent their small spite in a venal newspaper as soon as they get a chance, but the world will go on all the same, and we shall always have the money to patronize liberally any good attraction that comes this way.

Beginning tomorrow evening the Hanlon Brothers' spectacular production, The New Fantasma, will be given at the opera-house. It has just closed a two weeks' run at the California Theater, San Francisco. Music and Drama says: "It is the last of a style of entertainment which, in a few years, will have disappeared from the stage, and is one of the best samples of its class. But the glories of pantomime were those of another age, and only when presented in such excellent style as Fantasma is it endurable to the modern taste." Such a notice speaks more for the piece than a column of indiscriminating praise.

Dramatic and Musical Notes.
John T. Sullivan will be in Rose Coghlan's company again next season. Sophie Eyre's recovery is confidently expected by the doctors, though she is still lying quite ill in New York city.
Rose Eytzinger will shortly open a school for the dramatic instruction of ambitious young lady amateurs.
Ambrose Thomas has altered the score of the title role in his opera of Hamlet so that it can be sung by a tenor instead of a baritone.
The principle rehearsal of the Passion Play at Oberammergau, Germany, will take place this year on the 18th of May, and the first regular performance will be given on the 28th of that month. Other performances will then be given during June, July, August and September.

John A. Stevens is said to be at work on a new musical farce-comedy.
Held by the Enemy met with fair success in its Australian tour.

M. B. Curtis emerges from his late retirement and is about to give his old success, Sam'l of Posen, in San Francisco.

James O'Neill appears in Monte Cristo again this week in San Francisco. According to The Argonaut, O'Neill was reported two years or more ago to have amassed a fortune of a quarter of a million, was tired of Edmond Dantes and would show the world what he could do in the legitimate. Financial reasons appear by this time to have induced him to try the old love once more.

Miss Mamie Short, so favorably known here as a teacher of elocution, is now giving readings and teaching in New York city with much success. She has been taken up by Mrs. Leslie and some other fashionable admirers of talent, and her future seems assured.

E. H. Sothorn opens at the Marquand Grand, in Portland, next May, and will follow with an engagement in San Francisco.

A company from the New York Casino is playing Erminie in San Francisco, and, according to Music and Drama, is doing its best. It has never before been given there. The same authority thinks Miss Hanley's performance of "Javotte" a great improvement on that of Fanny Rice.

The firm of Potter & Bellave have opened at Melbourne, Australia, in La Teoca to fine houses, according to telegraphic advices.

Robert McWade is again playing Rip Van Winkle in San Francisco.

An injunction has been granted by the courts restraining the production of The Prince and the Pauper of Mark Twain.

Rhea's success in Josephine continues. Charles A. Gardner, in his new play entitled Fatherland, is now making more money than he made on the Pacific Coast. He is reported to have played to upward of $5000 for the week in St. Louis.

Salvini the younger is to star in Don Cesar de Bazan, beginning next month.

Wealth, an English comedy-drama, will shortly follow Aunt Jack at the Madison Square Theater.

A society of dramatic authors is being formed in New York. A number of prominent dramatists have already joined.

The City Directory, according to Dunlop's Stage News, has, in six weeks, played to $47,000, or nearly $8000 a week.

George Riddle, the popular reader, has been engaged by the Teachers' Mutual Aid Society to give a course of readings at the Metropolitan Temple, San Francisco, beginning tomorrow night. The principal selections to be given are from Shakespeare, Dickens and Browning.

D'Oyley Carte, who came to this country in a hurry to see the causes of the first failure of The Gondoliers, has returned to England with the satisfaction of knowing that the opera is under successful headway at last.

Wilson Barrett has made a hit in Novadays at Philadelphia.

Dan Sully is said to be enthusiastic over the merits of his new play to be shortly produced. It is entitled The Millionaire.

Sydney Rosenfeld's Stepping Stone is being persevered with in spite of the adverse judgment of first-night critics. One or two changes have been made in the supporting company, and in a short time the fate of the piece will be decided for good or ill.

Salvini's Boston engagement will doubtless end his tour in this country. The old gentleman has been writing to the papers vigorously denying certain accusations of pecuniary greed which made him out as a Shylock in his business transactions.

The Duff Opera Company has come to the surface again, on paper. It is to give a season of comic opera some time in May.

City Briefs

There are undelivered telegrams at the Western Union telegraph office for Mrs. D. C. Donaldson, C. A. Davis, A. C. Henry, R. C. Berwick, J. A. Reed and L. H. Green.

Tim Kearney and M. Cusick got into a dispute on San Fernando street yesterday morning about 3:30 o'clock, which ended in a rough-and-tumble fight. Both men were captured by Officer O'Hagan before much damage was done, and they were sent to the police station, where they were locked up on a charge of fighting.

Yesterday morning shortly after 11 o'clock as Chief Glass was walking down Spring street, when passing Franklin he saw a man snatch a buggy robe from a vehicle standing near the curb. He promptly nabbed the fellow and brought him, with the robe, to the station, where he gave the name of George Hill, and was booked for petit larceny.

There will be a meeting at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce of the ladies' annex. A large number of ladies who have not heretofore joined will be present and sign the roll. As soon as the constitution and bylaws are adopted permanent officers will be elected, and the new organization will start out on its mission of good under the most favorable auspices.

Santa Monica organized a base-ball nine the other day, and the boys played their first game yesterday afternoon. They call themselves the Comets, and, considering that they have practiced but little together, they played a good game. The Boyle Heights nine, which is considered a good club, went down to clean the young club out, but they were doomed to disappointment, for the Santa Monica club won by a score of 24 to 0.

Mrs. Mary Gallagher came to the police station, yesterday afternoon, accompanied by her husband, and deposited $25 cash bail for her appearance today on a charge of disturbing the peace. Mrs. Gallagher swore out a complaint against one of her neighbors, Mrs. Brown, Saturday afternoon, charging her with disturbing the peace, on which she was arrested and gave bail, when she promptly swore out a counter complaint. The row grew out of a fight between the children of the respective families.

Osborn Congleton of Philadelphia, a distinguished orator and journalist, will deliver a free lecture this evening at the Methodist Church, 200 South Broadway, near Sixth. Few public speakers have been accorded a more hearty reception on this coast than this gentleman. The subject of this evening's lecture is "The Foundation Stones of Liberty." Mr. Congleton is lecturing under the auspices of the National Division of the Sons of Temperance, and is the guest of W. B. Wadman, the Grand Worthy Patriarch of this State.

strains that issued from the warblers. But suddenly a change came over the spirit of the scene. The leaders in the team took matters under their own direction and made for the fence. As the man on the seat at that moment had only one hand to guide the four-horse team (the other hand being otherwise engaged), the team started not well controlled, and made desperate efforts to free themselves, and after breaking down several rods of fencing, they turned about and headed toward home. Had it not been for a dexterous young lady who jumped out and seized the leaders by the bits they would have brought the team back home flying. As it was, the party made their destination, and had a good time. On their homeward trip, however, they concluded it would be more secure to hitch one team at each end of the bus, which they did, and at 8:45 Saturday morning. The boys don't like to own up to all the little incidents of the trip.

Steady Progress

Has characterized Hood's Sarsaparilla ever since it was placed before the public. Wherever introduced, its sales have grown from year to year, until now it is the most popular and most successful medicine offered. Any druggist will confirm this statement. The secret of this success lies in the fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a medicine of merit. It does actually accomplish all that is claimed for it, and when given a fair trial, it is reasonably certain to be of benefit.

Positive Statements. "Since Hood's Sarsaparilla has been in my hands for sale I have had frequent and unserved testimonials in its favor. Although carrying this preparation for less than one year my sales have been greater than of any similar preparation, and the testimonials in its favor are at once positive and personally noticeable." A. Watson, Heidelberg, Cal.

Sells On Its Merits. "My boys say, 'Papa, why don't you buy more of Hood's Sarsaparilla at a time; we are always short.' It sells on its own merits." F. B. Real, Portland, Oregon; the oldest druggist in Oregon. N. B. Be sure to get only DISEASES OF THE HEAD, Throat and Lungs, successfully treated by M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M.D., M.C.P.S.O., by his Compound Oxygen and other Medicated Inhalation.

Probably no system of practice ever employed has been so universally successful as that introduced by Dr. Williams for the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

CATARRH. Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses his astonishment at his remarkable tendency to contract fresh cold. Indeed, he declares that he is scarcely free from one cold before he takes another, and he is always exceedingly careful; it is also a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and throat.

At times many of the symptoms of catarrh seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but another class of symptoms soon appear, and he learns to his horror that, instead of recovery from the disease, it is somewhat changed in its character and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing; hoarseness, times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it appears that some foreign substance, as, for instance, a hair, obstructs the throat; there becomes a sense of lancinating and fatigue; the breath lessons on a little exertion, short, hacking coughs, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breathe; these and other symptoms occur after the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this time the press of the disease may have been slow and the patient may, in expressing his confident hope that it will "wear off," declare that he has had the catarrh for years and has not seemed to become much worse, and trusts that he will "by and by" recover. But this delusion is the grand error which cured before they return home. Those who desire to consult me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for an examination, but if impossible to visit the office personally can write for list of questions and circular, both of which will be sent free of charge.
